She stressed that attention had been given to the women in the field of education with training policies that have increased the number of girls and women in the primary and secondary and tertiary education. Measures had also been taken to reduce the maternal mortality rate from 871/100,000, women to 470/100,000 in 2009. Efforts were also being made to mainstream the concerns of women into national policies and programmes. She then wished all the participants very fruitful deliberations.

5. In her intervention, the Honourable Nakadama Rukialcsanga, the State Minister for Gender and Culture from Republic of Uganda welcomed participants. She noted that women in Uganda had the right to education, health care and services, and were represented in decision making positions as Ministers and Members of Parliament representing their constituency. She then wished participants fruitful deliberations and invited the representative of the Minister from Kenya to deliver his Opening Remarks.

6. In his Opening Remarks, Mr. C.M Chika, the Minister Counsellor from the Embassy of Kenya to Ethiopia and the AU, first apologized for the absence of his Minister who was unable to come to the meeting due to some urgent commitments. He welcomed participants and thanked them for their attendance and participating at the Launch of the African Women’s Decade in large numbers. He briefed the meeting about the strides made by Kenya in ensuring the elevation of Kenyan women in various sectors including education and the economic empowerment of women and youth. Finally, he wished the participants fruitful deliberations.

7. The Opening Statement was delivered by Commissioner Gawanas on behalf of the Chairperson, H. E. Jean Ping. She extended special welcome to participants to the Addis Ababa and to the African Union Commission. She observed that this being the first time AU Ministers of Gender and Women’s Affairs were being hosted by the Commission, the Commission was pleased to host the 4th Ordinary meeting.

8. She thanked the Ministers for the important and ground breaking work carried out during their previous meetings and at the national, regional and international levels. She then recalled the landmark event of the successful and colourful Launch of the African Women’s Decade on the 15 of October, 2010 in Nairobi, Kenya, which adopted the Nairobi Declaration. She noted that the Launch was attended by over 2,500 delegates including Heads of State and Government, First Ladies, Vice Presidents, Prime Ministers, Deputy Prime Ministers, Cabinet Ministers, Deputies and Parliamentarians, Heads of UN Agencies, Gender Champions, CSOs, Grassroots women, Youth, Male champions for Gender Equality and Women’s Empowerment, and women from all walks of life.

9. The Commissioner noted that the Ministerial meeting was preceded by important preparatory meetings, including Capacity Building Workshop for Member States that have not reported on the implementation of the AU Solemn Declaration on Gender Equality in Africa (SDGEA), Capacity Building Workshop on Harmonization of the National and Regional Gender Policies, Technical Committees including the Committee of 30 for African Women Decade (AWD) and the Steering Committee for the Fund for African Women, Meeting of AU Expert and Ministerial Committee of 10. These meetings, she observed, built on the African Women’s Decade’s continental framework which anchored firmly of the African Union Gender Architecture.

10. She noted that political will to implement gender commitments at National, Regional and Continental level was at its peak. To date 30 countries have ratified the Protocol to the Charter on Human and Peoples Rights in Africa while 34 have reported on the implementation of the Solemn Declaration on Gender Equality in Africa (SDGEA), while 40 had launched the Campaign on Accelerated Reduction of Maternal Mortality in Africa (CARMMA). The Commission was encouraged by the countries that have signed the SADC Protocol and Member States that had emulated the AU gender parity principle, and looked forward to working with governments in this regard.

11. Commissioner Gawanas stressed that on top of the above Gender Architecture, The AU has a very clear vision for the next 10 years of the Decade. The Commission has put in place appropriate approaches, financial mechanisms, a practical methodology and a credible governance structure to deliver this Decade. She then recalled that the Fund for African Women was now operational. Launched by the Assembly of Heads of States and Government in January 2010, this vehicle for mobilizing resources for the implementation of the decade activities had proved instrumental as the Commission was able to invite Member States and the civil society to submit proposals under Theme No. 3 of the Decade. She then itemized the various steps in the roadmap in processing the submitted projects to ensure that they fulfil the funding criteria of the Fund for African Women.

12. The Commissioner then thanked development partners for the support they continue to give to the Commission; and Member States for contributing to the Fund for African Women which will, among other things, support grassroots initiatives to make sure that the decade for African women would not be a decade of words.

Encourage the protection of trees to emulate best practices from Rwanda;

African women should launch a campaign against the use of plastic bags.

18. H.E. Ms. Tumusiine, Commissioner for Agriculture and Rural Economy, provided additional information on the COP17 meeting. She traced the historical context of the COP17 which she placed in the African context, with African activities that were undertaken to combat the harmful effects of climate change in Africa and the African common position on the issue of climate change in conformity with the Kyoto Declaration. She mentioned the importance of the African common position that Africans must take at COP17, which required the creation of an African pavilion in accordance with the decision of the Assembly of the African Union (Assembly December 342 (XVI)) on the Sixteenth Conference of Parties to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change and the Sixth Conference of Parties to the Kyoto Protocol that called on the African Union Commission to liaise with the Republic of Africa South (SA) and the African Development Bank (ADB) to obtain the African Pavilion.

19. She informed the Ministers that the putting in place of the African Pavilion required the establishment of a Steering Committee supported by an advisory committee which, in turn, is advised by three sub-committees, namely a Technical Sub-committee, a Media Sub-committee and a Communications and Logistics Sub-committee. The Pavilion will serve as a hub for African activities and informal networks outside the formal negotiations. Also, a website had been created so that Member States could register for free participation at the Pavilion. The website is: au.int/pages/cop17

The Ministers were concerned what the NEPAD Projects were not ready for their consideration and requested the Commission to make sure that these projects are presented to them in the next 2 to 3 months.

24. She informed the meeting that the Committee of 10 was formed in Nairobi, during the Ministerial Meeting on Gender held on the sidelines of the launch of the African Women’s Decade.
